

2018 University Recommended Monbukagakusho Scholarship Application Guidelines for Overseas International Degree-seeking Students (September 2018 Enrollment) at the Graduate School of Information Science and Engineering, Ritsumeikan University

Ritsumeikan University has additionally announced an additional period application for the 2018 University Recommended Monbukagakusho Scholarship (MEXT) Application Guidelines for Overseas International Degree-seeking Students (September 2018 Enrollment) at the Graduate School of Information Science and Engineering at Ritsumeikan University, Japan.

The application is scheduled from now on until Friday, February 16, 2018. All application documents must arrive during the application period. Documents postmarked by the cut-off date that arrive late as well as applications by email, fax, or walk-in will not be accepted.

Interested students can study the scholarship information, eligibility requirements, and can download additional period application guidelines as well as additional period application documents at the MEXT Scholarship: University Recommendation website from this link <http://en.ritsumei.ac.jp/admissions/monbukagakusho-university-recommendation/>